SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO HEAR BLACK CHALLENGE

Reconsideration Denied to Three Florida Firms Which Said Justice Had No Right to Seat.

LEVITT APPEALS TO THE PRESIDENT

Asks Roosevelt to Start Quo Warranto Proceedings Against New Member of High Tribunal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- Three Florida oil companies lost in the Supreme Court today in their effort to obtain reconsideration of recent action on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

The court gave no explanation of its refusal to grant reconsideration. That was in line with regular procedure in such action.

The Florida companies sought rederation of the court's refusal on Oct. 18 to interfere with attempts by the Security and Ex-

Medical Journal Says Food and Drug Acts Do Not Set Up Necessary Standards.

By the Associated Press.

WHITEHALL, Mich., Nov. 8.—
Floyd Peterson, a Grand Rapids (Mich.) newspaper man, was shot and fatally wounded early today in the residence of Mrs. Ruby L. Gee, the r Journal of the American Medical Association declares.

Two deputies were posted at the house but made no arrests.

Association declares.

Lives have been lost simply because the poisonous properties of the elixir, now known, were not determined in advance by a manufacturer, the editorial says.

Diethylene glycol, which constitutes 72 per cent of the elixir, acts as a cumulative poison when ad-

Inadequacy of Law.

Under present laws the responsibility for protection of the public rests with the Food and Drug Administration "which is as inefficiently armed as a hunter pursuing a tiger with a fly swatter," the Journal observes.

"Ironically the label for elixir of sulfanilamide carried the recommendation continue at this dose until recovery!" In reply to a ques-tion by a physician who had lost a patient after having prescribed the mixture, an officer of the drug firm expressed regret but said no law had been violated, and no error of manufacture had been made; there-fore the firm should not be blamed for unlooked-for action of the

"Who should have made certain of the safety of the preparation if not the purveyor?" the Journal asks. "In the cycle comes first the manufacturer who launched the preparation without proper precau-tion; second, the detail man who importuned physicians to use the product; and third, the pharmacist who was willing to sell across the counter, either on request from the public or on physicians' prescripons, toxic preparations of secret haracter. "But most serious perhaps after the manufacturer are those physicians who will not heed the warnings concerning the use of proprietary, unstandardized, semi-secret remedies. Perhaps the physicians who used this product were misled by the term 'elixir.' In general that term has connoted sweetened, aromatic, hydro-alcoholic liquids similar to cordials, to which active drugs are added. This definition, however, has undergone some changes in the practice of pharmacy by the employment of other solvents, such as glycerin. There is no legal definition of the term 'elixir.' The U.S. Pharmacopeial Revision Committee or some group with legal power should define it." The Journal warns that sulfanilamide should not be used with other drugs except sodium bicarbonate. "It decomposes in ordinary vehicles," the editorial states. "In the case of the diethylene glycol vehicle, the product did not de pose but the patients did die." Criticism of Legislation.

Another editorial in the same issue points out that the Food and Drugs Act of 1906 does not provide adequate standards of purity, po-tency, wholesomeness and labeling of foods and drugs, nor does it pro-vide suitable penalties for failure to meet those standards it does

Legislation introduced in the seventy-third, seventy-fourth and seventy-fifth sessions of Congress is also inadequate, the editorial continues, because it does not set up adequate legal standards for drugs and diagnostic and therapeutic de-

In reply to a query from a St. Louis physician regarding a solu-tion of sulfanilamide manufactured by a St. Louis firm, the editors of the Journal wrote that no solution the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry. "There is no evidence available to indicate that any preparation of sulfanilamide is stable in solution form," the editors wrote. 'Until such times as a satisfactory solvent is devised, physicians wil do well to prescribe only accepted brands in powder and tablet form."

Preliminary reports of experi-ments at the University of Chicago indicate that diethylene glycol in the elixir of sulfanilamide caused the deaths. Experimental animals given diethylene glycol alone exhibit essentially the same clinical course and pathological changes in the kidney and liver as do those treated with similar doses of the elixir of sulfanilamide. Dr. Amonario Diaz de Leon of Mexico has reported to the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau in Washington that he has successfully treated 15 cases of malaria with tablets of sulfanilamide. The drug has also been used successfully in treating streptococcic infec-

Radiator Guard Is Clew to Machine That Hit Mrs. Charles F. Gerak in Gustine Avenue.

MAN, 78, HIT BY BUS ON OCT. 28. SUCCUMBS

Henry Oesterreicher Dies in Hospital Two Motor Fatalities in East St. Louis One in Alton.

Mrs. Charles F. Gerak, 4016 Meramec street, was killed last night when struck by an automo hile the driver of which failed to stop. She was attempting to cross Gustine avenue in front of No. 3820 Attendants at nearby filling stations who heard a crash told police a Ford coach was driven rapidly from the scene.

A triangular radiator protector, found in the street, is being held as a clew.

The witnesses said they believed the machine was a 1935 model, and there was a white square sign on the tire cover. The machine was northbound in Gustine when it hit Mrs. Gerak, and the driver turned east in Chippewa street.

Mrs. Gerak, wife of a printer, was 61 years old. There is a parkway in Gustine avenue at the point where she was hit. She was at-tempting to cross the east lane at 7:30 o'clock when the machine ran her down. She regained consciousness at City Hospital, where she died at 10 o'clock of injuries of the chest and skull.

JEWEL BOX DISPLAY OF CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Exhibition, Which Opened Yesterday at Forest Park, Continues Through November.

The annual display of chrysanthemums at the Jewel Box Conservatory at Wells and McKinley drives in Forest Park was opened Grouped in a formal design, beds of the flowers are arranged around a waterfall and winding pool which reflects the mums.

The display contains 3112 plants with more than 100,000 individual blossoms. Phillip Lipples, head gardener at the Park Department greenhouses, said nearly 5000 other plants, some of them later-blooming varieties, are being held for replacements. The chrysanthemum collection has been built up to requirements of the $120,000 conservatory, which was dedicated last November with its first mum show.

Nine Beds Flank Pool. There are nine arc-shaped bed flanking the pool, into which the waterfall tumbles from a terrace 20 feet high, opposite the entrance.

A color pattern of mums has been worked out on the terrace. In the center is a large figure like a capital I composed of yellow mums. This sets in a field of pink blossoms, with a touch of bronze, and a white strip at the bottom.

The walk leading around the display curves under the terrace through an exit of rustic wood gateways.

Caprice, considered by growers as one of the finest of chrysanthemums, is the outstanding variety at the show. Rose and yellow blos-soms of this variety are combined in one bed, bronze and gold in another, pink and gold in a third and purple in a fourth. There is one of solid yellow, and others of pink Around the entrance of the con-rvatory and edging the main design are other color arrangements in which the stately single-stem varieties with one large bloom are did dwell on it openly on one occasion-his closing address to the conference.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Historical Survey of the State His-"The United States, economically speaking, is not out of the woods, he said. "In five years of experinentation no progress has yet been made toward composing what is questions, namely, the question of unemployment. Technological dis-placement of labor in America is proceeding apace.

"The very increased prosperity, increased sales, increased profits which corporate industry has been enjoying the last year or more carry with them the seeds of greatly increased unemployment, because as these corporations increased their credit ratings they were able to place into execution plans for modernizing plant equipment and though it was probably the work facilities to a degree never before brought about. "And the modernization of these plants, and these facilities, the adoption of new formulae, the utilization of new energy displacing human hands are proceeding to a degree that the nation will not realize until some time next year. As a result we already have a slowing down of industry.

"Hundreds of thousands of me have joined the organizations affiliated with the C I O in recent months, and now they are being turned out of the plants and and they are being told that in-dustry has nothing for them.

"Nor can they get help from the Government, because the Govern-ment relief situation is now at a man who has been thrown on the idleness rolls to get public relief." Balancing the Budget.

In view of the situation, some ment budget. One of them remarked to this writer yesterday, that "at no time since the depth of the depression, in 1933, has there been less prospect of balancing the budget, and at no time has the prospect of attempting to balance it been so full of dreadful possi-bilities." He added that "it is time some one in authority in Washington began to wake up to the realities of this situation."

In some quarters the opinion has been expressed that the situation would serve as a force to bring the C I O and the A. F. of L. together. The response to inquiries made by this writer does not support that view. C I O leaders, in particular, replied that while unity in the ranks of labor is desirable in hard times, it is also desirable in other Car Carrying Young People Skids Onto Tracks at Knox City.

By the Associated Press. KNOX CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—Five young persons were killed at an open grade crossing here vesterday when their speeding automobile skidded to a halt on the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City Railroad tracks and was struck by a westbound passenger train.

Three of the dead were members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. James L. White, living southwest of Knox City. They were killed instantly.

The two other victims died a few minutes after they had been taken to a home near the scene of the The dead:

John White, 15 years old; Marjorie White, 12; James White, 10: Mary Jane Turpin, 19, daughter of Charles Turpin, living near La Leroy McEvoy, 15, son of Mrs.

Edgar Leckbee of Knox City. Mrs. Claude Miner, standing in the doorway of her cottage home, 50 feet from the crossing, said she saw the automobile driving north at a high rate of speed.

"The driver apparently decided he couldn't beat the train and tried to stop," she said. "The car stopped directly on the tracks. I saw there was going to be a colli-sion, so I slammed the door to hide the horrible sight."

J. P. Johnson of Quincy, Ill., conductor, and Joe Mulligan, Kansas City, engineer, said it was impossible to stop the train. Mulligan said he saw the car and "did my best to avoid the accident, but we hit it in dead center." There wer tire marks on both sides of the track.

Bodies of the five killed were scattered 200 feet down the track. Coroner Keith Hudson said he had learned John White was the driver of the car. He announced an inquest would be conducted at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

> Union employes of the Ford Moor Co. assembly plant, 4100 Forest Park avenue, yesterday voted authority to their officers to call a strike at their discretion.

Charges that the company has reused to bargain collectively and is ostering a company union in violaion of the Wagner Act have been filed by the union with the National Labor Relations Board. Milton N. Johnson, the local manager, has denied the allegations.

About 600 members of Local No. 325, United Automobile Workers of America, met yesterday at a hall at 3414 Union boulevard and took a secret ballot on the proposal to strike. Union officers reported there were few dissenting votes, and the action was later made unanimous. The union says it has 800 of the 960 employes of the as-

GRANTS BUS CASE

Greyhound Unit to Withdraw Recognition of Employes' Association.

DENIED REHEARING IN FERRY FIRM DISPUTE

Union Cited to Show Why Appeal Involving Sitdown's Validity Should Butler, represented a victory for the Government in its effort to Not Be Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.-The Nadonal Labor Relations Board won Supreme Court review today in its effort to enforce an order directing the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., to withdraw all recognition from a labor organization it was alleged to have formed and dominated.

decision by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals declining to sustain the Labor Board. The Appeals Court held the Wagner Labor Relations

Act did not authorize such action.
In agreeing, or refusing, to grant review the Court does not pass on the merits of the controversies It merely decides whether there are grounds for a review.

Other parts of the board's order in the Greyhound case—that the bus company cease from discouraging membership of its employes in the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, that it desist from interfering with the administration of the employes' association of the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., and that it reinstate five discharged employes-were upheld by the Circuit Court and were not involved in the appeal.

N L R B Loses Another Appeal.

The Court refused to review an appeal by the Labor Board in its effort to enforce an order directing he Delaware-New Jersey Ferry Co. to bargain collectively with the Ma-rine Engineers' Beneficial Association. This left, in effect, a deci-sion against the board by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Court directed the American rederation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers to show by Dec. 6 why ration involving constitutionality of sit-down strikes should not be dismissed "upon the ground that the cause is moot."

The Apex Hosiery Co. of Philadelphia, where a sit-down strike was conducted by the labor organization last summer, had asked the Supreme Court to refuse to review the ontroversy because the dispute had ed there was no longer any point to further litigation.

The labor union appealed from ruling by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals that sit-down strikes "would strike down American institutions, flout our long-cherished principles of even-handed justice, and destroy the foundations of the Government itself."

This was the first litigation inthe Supreme Court.

Teachers' Pension Cut Upheld. The court, in another case, ruled against a group of Chicago teachers who either retired or applied for retirement, in their attack on 1935 Illinois statute reducing pensions to $500 a year from a scaranging between $1000 and $1500. The court affirmed a decision by the Illinois Supreme Court uphold delivered the opinion, to which no

The opinion upheld the contention of the Board of Education that the payments "were pensions subject to revocation or alteration at the will of the Legislature."

The court denied contention of the teachers that use of the word "annuity," rather than "pension," indicated the higher annual pay-ments were "based on contract rather than on gifts." Other Decisions.

The Puget Sound Stevedoring Co. won a partial victory in its effort to escape paying Washington State an assessment on its gross receipts, imposed under the State's 1933 business and occupation tax. In a unanimous decision delivered by Justice Cardozo, the court held "the business of loading and unloading being interstate or foreign com merce, the State of Washington is not at liberty to tax the privilege of doing it by exacting in return therefore a percentage of the gross receipts." The court said "the business of appellant (the stevedoring company), insofar as it consists of supplying longshoremen to ship owners or masters without directing or controlling the work of loading or unloading, is not interstate commerce or foreig mmerce, but rather a local business, and subject, like such business generally, to taxation by the state."

The decision was on an appeal from a ruling by the Washington Supreme Court sustaining the onehalf of 1 per cent levy.

In another case, the court ruled Henry O. Hale and Elizabeth C. Hale of Des Moines must pay Iowa an income tax on interest received from securities they contended were tax-exempt. A ruling against the Hales by the Iowa Supreme Court was affirmed in a 6-to-3 decision delivered by Justice Cardozo. The income tax assessment wa Justice Cardozo said, "Iowa cannot be held to cripple in an unconstitutional way her own privileges and powers when she levies an income or even a property tax upon bonds issued by herself." Justice Sutherland read a dissent-Seeks to Force ing opinion in which Justices Mc-Reynolds and Butler joined.

"If a tax," Justice Sutherland said, "falls upon the bond and lessens its proceeds, either in respect of principal or interest, it is a tax on the bonds, and cannot be made something else by resort to the vocabulary or by employing some circuitous method of imposing it." Ruling on Minor in Navy.

The chief difficulty in naming standouts is that not all teams reach their peak at the same time and not all are able to maintain it through the season after attaining top form. Many of the great elevens of the country are almost on a level in power and material. It is with football elevens as it is with horses. Some are on edge early in the season and fit to run in the Derby; others may not reach their top until midsummer or later. The standout of October may a fadeout in November or the reverse may happen. Ford-ham, Pitt, Alabama, California and one or two others may seem to be the best at this time. But the guess as to which will be strongest at the close of the campaign is strictly yours, Bo.

reached their peak and prospects of improvement were very dull.

This season Clawsey looked about for a team of junior players who might go on to senior titles. He was fortunate in taking over the Eighteenth Ward Democrat team, which last season came through to win a group championship in the Junior divisions. Under the name Irish Village, this club is snowing the opposition under big scores in the Intermediate division at Fairground Park. A week ago they beat the Plaza A. C., 4 to 0, and yesterday they walloped the Two-Mile House, 7 to 1. Perhaps the strangest of all re sults achieved in Chicago was this: The track with the least capital and prestige, one which has to take the fag end dates of the season after nearly six months of racing at other Chicago courses and which holds its events on a half-mile course, proved to be the best and surest money-maker in the Chicago district.

That's Sportsman's Park, owned and operated by Eddie O'Hara of Sportsman's Park mutuels handled a daily average of $210,000, which was a considerable increase over last year. Because its operating expenses are low, its percentage of profit is high.

Many of the larger plants would gladly exchange with this track, which once was referred to as a "merry-go-round" and which was rebuilt from a greyhound race

Half-mile tracks have always been frowned on by the major racing circuits. O'Hare argued that if one were operated near a big city, it would be more popular than the mile course for the simple reason that the spectators have a closer view of the horses all the time. In spite of cold water thrown on the project, O'Hare went through with his idea, dug up capital to do with it, and prove his case to the world. The track proved a money-maker, even dur-ing the peak of the depression.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.-The Profes sional Golfers' Association of America, the game's teaching and touring division, will open a family scrap tomorrow, with the Illinois delegation shooting at President George Jacobus' job.

The occasion will be the associa tion's twenty-first annual meeting and the Agendum lists a number of items for discussion concerning the progress and welfare of the pros, but the foremost one centers around Jacobus, his policies and the Illinois section's opposition thereto.

Seeks Fifth Term.

Jacobus, professional at Ridge wood, N. J., is expected to seek his fifth term as president. The Illisummer to build up Alex Cunning ham, veteran Scottish pro at Chi-cago's North Shore Club, as an opposition candidate. Others whose names have been mentioned as pos of California, Fred Brand of Pitts burgh, George Aulbach of Dallas Tex., and R. W. (Doc) Treacy of Grand Rapids, Mich., one of the six

The association president aroused the displeasure of the Illinois sec tion on two counts: The ousting of Robert E. Harlow, for many years manager of the P. G. A., tournament bureau, and the discontinu-ance of the trophy given by Harry E. Radix of Chicago, for the pro-fessional turning in the best stroke average per 18 holes in tournament competition. Cunningham's back ers contend Harlow was bounced without cause, and that he was de Jacobus, well aware of opposition has kept his own council.

Another Problem.

Among the other serious problems to be threshed out is the Federal Trade Commission's complaint o unfair business practice against the P. G. A., in connection with the association's approved golf ball. Plans for increasing the scope of junior golf promotion, and the ac-tivities of A. W. Tillinghast, P. G. A., consulting course architect, are on the docket.

The meeting will be a three-day affair, with the election of officers scheduled for Thursday.

the Big Ten. This is merely a suggestion, not a prediction. No, sir. There were several other games that fell easily into the upset classification, but because of the general debacle they seem less important than usual.

The Billikens took a thriller from Missouri, with the Cochran-Totsch passing combination breaking into the scoring column with the same pass that kied De Paul. The teams were evenly matched defensively, but with Mahley and Johnson out of the Tiger lineup, the Blue and Mondala of the Faurot team is an unusually effective plunger and had his thrusts into the line been interspersed by end sweeps su ey usually contributes, Missouri might have won. All in all, it was a great victory loss for a team that still must face Oklahoma, Kansas and U. C. L. A and Washington.

Bears Improve.

Washington's Bears played an improved game against the hard-lighting Oklahoma Aggies, with Bukant and Shakofsky contributing the winning touchdowns. But if Drake beat Washington 30 points that comes here Saturday? That's omething to think about.

California, despite the tie with the University of Washington, still holds the edge in the Pacific Coast Conference, and is first choice for Badminton Teams Tie.

the Rose Bowl among the critics.

As an opponent, California should have either Alabama or Pittsburgh, ent season.

66 WE HAD a good many arguments in our Municipal League last summer," a sandlot player writes," and we'd like to know if there's any hard and fast rule to govern official scorers as to when an infielder should be charged with an error and when the batter should be given credit for a hit." No, Mr. Sand-Lotter, there is no rule that will do you any good. Scoring baseball plays is entirely a matter of judgment and all you can do is accept the decision of the man selected to judge plays. Scoring, apparently, cannot be standardized. The writer has watched major league games in 11 cities for a good many years, and the scorers are as far from standardized decisions as they ever were. A grounder that is a New York. A stolen base in Cincinnati may be a passed ball in Boston and probably would be. A wild pitch in Pittsburgh might be a passed ball in Chicago.

There's no way of standardiz-ing the scoring and perhaps that's why no attempt has been made in that direction. As far as we know, there has hever been a meeting of all official scorers with a central authority. Each year, or from time to time, the league executives send out "instructions to scorers," but in many cases these are difficult to interpret and tend to confuse, rather than to clarify.

It is no wonder that they have difficulty in the municipal leagues, when it is so obviously impossible to have official scoring in the majors standardized.

Big League Scoring.

T SO happened that last summer there were many plays which emphasized the lack of uniformity or standardization and the letter from the sandlot questioner recalls a few incidents.

"Whatever you want to call it scoring is very lenient. The book somewhere says that in case of doubt, a batter should be credited with a hit. One day the official scorer turned to a press-box com-rade after an infielder had missed a simple grounder and asked, "What did that look like to you?"

comrade replied.

"Well, the book says in case of doubt, call it a hit," the official scorer continued. "And I asked you what you thought about it. So there must have been doubt in my mind. So I guess that makes it a hit." And so it was scored as a hit, though to all other observers it was a palpable error. The Stolen Base.

N the same city, in a game be-tween the Cardinals and Bees, Pepper Martin was on first base. The steal sign was flashed and Pepper, off to a good lead, dashed toward second. The catcher, in his eagerness to throw out the Wild Horse, fumbled the ball momentarily, then threw, but even had there been no fumble, it is doubtful if he could have stopped Martin on that particular steal. In most cities and certainly in St. Louis, where the official scoring is considerably above the average, Martin would have been credited with a stolen base. But the official scorer saw only the catcher's momentary fumble, overlooked the big lead that Martin had and called it a passed ball.

Martin also figured in a play in St. Louis in which the decision seemed to be incorrect. The Wild Horse tried to steal second, but didn't have much of a lead, and when he slid desperately for second, his momentum carried him bled to his feet and saw the second baseman with the ball in his hand. To steal a base, a runner must reach the bag which is the objective and have it in his possession and control. Martin, in this instance, had reached second, but did not have it "under control." Therefore, in our book, he hadn't stolen the base. Seeing himself trapped, with no chance to perfect "control" of the bag, Martin took the other and rather hopeless chance and instead of trying to slide back to second, he darted for third. He was retired quickly in a run-up, but was credited with a stolen base. It seemed to this observer that a proper description of the play should have been "Martin tried to steal second, but overslid the bag and tagged out when he tried to con-reached third safely, without aid of any error, he might have been entitled to two stolen bases.

Had Martin been tagged trying to return to second, he would not have been credited with a stolen pursue because of his failure to have the bag under control should have no effect on the ruling. Of course, there's another point to the argument. Had Martin

N Chicago one day, Brusie Ogrodowski had four or five passed balls, but two of them were called wild pitches. On one of the "wild pitches," the count on the batter was two strikes and nothing, with a man on first. Ogrodowski called for a pitchout moved over to take it, but apparently took his eye off the ball, to watch the runner on first and the ball caromed off his glove to the backstop. The official scorer called it a wild pitch. It seemed to be so obviously a passed ball that we questioned the ruling and the official scorer said he called it a wild pitch because it was a ball, rather than a strike. We had never heard that one before.

Official scoring, of course, is a difficult job. You can't please everybody. The manager always calls it an error in his book when one of his infielders misses a grounder, even if it is hard-hit. But when an enemy infielder misses a similar grounder, hit by a hustling young player, the manager complains bitterly if his bat-ter isn't credited with a hit. And they don't agree on the bench about doubtful plays, so how are you going to standardize rulings made from the press box?

GRANTED the mood of the hour in the West, that no Western nation will participate in the war between China and Japan, what is the basis for a policy of dignified non-participation? It is simply this: a government must recognize that, in this modern day, its prestige no longer rests upon old chivalric attitudes toward its flag or its nationals. A strong and sensible government should make it clear to those of its nationals who choose to live business abroad that they mus take the risks of those countries to which they go.

The taxpayer at home cannot justly be called upon to pay for a guard to protect country for their own personal satisfactions. self-importance of those individuals who, going abroad to make money or to preach their gospels, consider themselves representatives of their nations, which involves their governments and fellow-countrymen in the entanglements which they very properly

Time and again, as a veteran of Chinese wars, and even of an earlier Japanese bom bardment of Nanking. I have seen this selfimportance. A handful of white men and women, missionaries and merchants, through some false sense of shame, some ridiculous idea of courage and face-saving, and in some cases a desire for newspaper publicity, always refuse to leave their jobs, which, excluding nurses and doctors, are of no particular use at the moment anyway, and car easily be resumed after the always comparatively brief period of danger is over.

It is, of course, beyond question that such persons have the right to choose to take any risks they like. But, having chosen they have no right to expect protection of any sort, nor should a mistaken sense of duty on the part of their governments make further protection seem necessary.

Americans in particular are guilty of this sort of thing, both as nationals and as government. The British Government still reserves the right to command its nationals to retire from a prescribed area in order to avoid international complications. But the American Government does not command, it only advises, its nationals abroad This would be all very well if at the same time they really did stick by and take the entire risk, instead of secretly knowing-and expecting-that their Govern ment will keep a gunboat or two at the nearest port and that protests will be made if anything happens to them, and probably indemnities required and paid For under the present confused policy

LTHOUGH at this writing there A is no official confirmation of the report that Japan and China have agreed to German mediation, it might very well prove to be true now or later. When I was in Geneva in September, during the earlier phases of the war in Central China, much was said privately about the scrupulously correct attitude adopted by the Nazi press and about the unusual friendliness shown by the German Government toward both sides.

Thus, though Germany and Japan were in some sort of alliance under the so-called anti-Communist pact, there was also a German military mission with the Chinese army, and, according to unsub-stantiated rumors, China was receiving considerable help from Germany.

It was generally recognized that though Germany had common political interests with Japan, she had very important common economic interests with China. If new it turns out to be true that China and Japan have accepted Germany as the mediator, it would not be hard to find impressive reasons why Gernany has been able to achieve such a very great diplomatic triumph.

To begin with, German imperialism was driven out of the Orient in the World War, and while at the time that looked like a defeat for Germany, it was almost certainly greatly to her ultimate advantage. Neither Japan nor China has any reason to fear German intervent in Asia, and this established Germany as the most disinterested of the great Powers of the West. Germany is not the political rival of Japan, as Russia is, as Great Britain is, as, in the past, at least, we have been. Germany is not, on the other hand, a participant any longer in such special privileges as extraterritoriality spheres of influ-ence, and the actual military occupation of Chinese territory. Thus the Allies have made Germany, against Germany's will, of course, a disinterested Power in the Orient. The ambiguity of the League's diplomacy and of our own has greatly strengthened the German position. For that diplomacy has consisted of threats against Japan and of promises to China which we, that is the British and ourselves, could not and would not fulfill. We have scolded the Japanese without meaning to oppose them; we have encouraged the Chinese without meaning to support them. Thus we are unable to enforce the ideals we are unable to enforce the ideals of collective security embalmed in the Nine-Power Treaty, the Covenant, and the Kellogg Pact; and is as mediators we have disqualified the

New President Urges Them to "Hampered Militancy of Our Help Government Protect the Public.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS,

W. Va., Nov. 8.-Francis E. Frothingham, taking office as president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, urged its members yesterday to share with the Government the responsibility of son that we can only finance new enterprises on a pay-as-you-go plan, growing slowly because the accumulation of earnings would be so small."

the company."

The attorney, tracing the history of relations between the unions and the company since the Wood River plant was established in 1917, Charles M. Johnson, North Carolina State Treasurer, recommended that the bill to give the SEC broad powers over financial reorganiza-tions be amended to remove municipal financing from its provisions.

"In my opinion, the Securities and Exchange Commission is doing a good job of administering legislation heretofore passed by Congress, but it seems that Congress can find ample justification for eliminating nicipal debt arrangements."

These provisions, he believed, "would cause serious inconvenience for municipalities in working out the refinancing programs."

Another Criticises Lea Bill.

The association's Municipal Se-curities Committee, headed by John S. Linen, vice-president of the Chase National Bank, issued a report, also criticising the Lea bill as it would affect municipalities. It said:

"From a study of the so-called Lea bill it is evident that the accepted principle of full disclosure on which the Securities Act is based is discarded and a new theory adopted which might be termed regulation, supervision and approval "by the commission along with complete disclaimer of any responsibility for results." The Real Estate Securities Com mittee, of which Ben B. Ehrlichman of Seattle is chairman, reported that realty mortgage bonds met with increasing favor last year, but "It has been exceedingly disappointing to note that construction awards are currently falling well below those of 1936, and further, that the transfer of the state o that the immediate outlook, in view of the cost factor and general la-bor situation, is most uncertain."

100 PCT. FROM DEFUNCT BANK

Second Depository at Frederick-town, Mo., Reaches 75 Pct. FARMINGTON, Mo., Nov. 8.—A payment of 331-3 per cent is being paid to depositors of the closed Bank of Fredericktown, at Fredericktown, Mo., by Lyman A. Matthews, special deputy commissioner of the State Department of Finance, which brings the total to 100 per cent that the depositors have received from this trust.

A 10 per cent payment is being made to depositors of the closed Security Bank of Fredericktown, making a total of 75 per cent. Both banks closed in July, 1934.

Organization," Business Agent Testifies.

The dismissal by the Shell Petroleum Corporation of three authorized representatives of Locals 525 and 525A of the International Union of Operating Engineers at the Wood River refinery "definite-brought out that a dispute over wages in the autumn of 1935 was submitted to arbitration—under terms of the agreement which is still in effect—and that the union then abided by the arbitrator's decision, although it was unfavorable to the union. Kelahan testified last week, when the hearing opened, that the strike was called May 3 after the company posted a special time schedule while negotiations between the company and union were in progress. The question of hours had been one of the subjects of the negotiations, Kelahan said.

The hearing, in the Federal Building, is before William P. Webb, the Board's trial examiner. It probably will continue for 10 days.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The Foreign Of-cice disclosed today that Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos has comfice disclosed today that Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos has completed plans to visit Poland and the Little Entente nations to dismunist pact. He will leave, it was said, as soon the the Brussels conends. This will be the first visit of a French Foreign Minister to France's Eastern Europe allies since the late Louis Barthou made his trip in April, 1934. Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania make up the Little Entente.

Reports here mentioned the possibility of Poland's joining the anti-

Communist pact. It also was reported in diplomatic circles that Germany soon would invite Czechoslovakia in the belief that the nation which the Nazi-Fascist press calls "the Soviet advance post in Europe," would be be branded as a Communist ally.

Refusal to join would give any Gerbe branded as a Communist ally. Refusal to join would give any German intervention in Czechoslovakia the appearance of self-defense. It was said in diplomatic circles that France would try to strength-en her friendship with the United States and Great Britain because Chi of the pact. The anti-Red pact could cover

"almost anything," a Foreign Of-fice spokesman said, adding that France would follow a wait-and-see Chi policy. "Some diplomatic quarters held that France planned to point out to the United States the danger of the agreement splitting the nations of North and South America into opposite camps, if the anti-Communist nations sought co-operation from Latin-American nations. One of the Foreign Office's biggest worries was Yugoslavia's reaction. The newspaper of Premier Milan Stoyadinovitch commented favorably on the agreement. Officials also expressed fear Germany might attempt to intervene in Czechoslovakia.

Despite the assurances of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, that there were "no secret aims," reports persisted in both the same, reports and diplomatic quarters that there were secret military French press and diplomatic quar-ters that there were secret military clauses in the pact.

★ In 1936, Thompson's 114 Restaurants in 37 cities used and served 17,650,190 finest quality eggs, an average of 357,568 per week or 48,224 per day—each one candled to assure its perfect goodness. While egg production varies seasonally, at the yearly average of 37.4 eggs per 100 chickens per day, 138,945 hens would be required for this vast quantity. Thompson's must be a good place to eat.

LOUIS PRODUCE MARKET, No. ingot production records.

The rapid fall in the operating rate was attributed to a combination of decline in new orders and in backlogs of unfilled orders accumulated early in the year when consumers were buying heavily to protect themselves against rising prices and delays in deliveries. In common with buyers in other lines of business, steel consumers have cut orders to the bone in re-

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—The Magazine Steel, in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade, Despite a further decline in the steelmaking rate and in pig iron production, lighter volume of steel exports and hesitation among automotive builders, several developments appeared on the favorable ments appeared on the favorable side in the past week.

Placing of 45,000 tons of structurals and bearing piling by Ford Motor Co. for a new press shop, divided between mills in the Pittsburgh district, inquiry for 75,000 tons of steel ralls by the Southern Pacific and taking of bids Dec. 10 for about 79,000 tons of steel for the extension of Coulee Dam, bring an aggregate of about 200,000 tons before steel mills. It is likely this will be distributed widely as to producers. The order for steel piling by Ford is said to be the largest ever placed for that class of material.

Though mills continued curtailing production, the rate of decline is slower. Last week the national average was off 4 points to 47 per cent. At Pittsburgh the 41 per cent rate was maintained, Chicago lost 2 points to 42 per cent, Eastern Pennsylvania dropped 5 points to 38, Youngstown 3 points to 51, Wheeling 8 points to 54 and Cleveland 5 points to 54 Buffalo lost 28 points to 23 per cent, Birmingham 10 points to 54, St. Louis 9.2 ham 10 points to 54, St. Louis 9.2 points to 44. New England gained 5 points to 30 and Detroit held eady at 90 per cent.

Leads Buoyant European Currencies as Investors, Speculators Seek Gold.

by the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.-Leading European currencies, with buoyant sterling in the van, mounted to new highs for more than a year today as investors and speculators abroad clamored for gold.

The precious yellow metal, sent to the United States by the ship-load a short time ago under the persuasive influence of Uncle Sam's $35 an ounce price, clung stubbornerberated through financial circles abroad that the United States was about to devalue the dollar again. Many informed persons in Wall Street believed the administration had no such present intent, but the rush for gold abroad continued. Gold rose in London to the equivalent of $35.23 an ounce, a the dollar, against $35.12 at price the dollar, against $35.12 at price fixing this morning. LONDON, DOLLAR OFF U. S. COTTON CROP

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The stock market closed unsettled today following the slump of more than 2 cents in the dollar, which was attributed to Continental fears that a new devaluation of the dollar was imminent. The glit-edged section was firmest, proceeds from the sale of other securities supporting these issues. American stocks finished slightly above their lows for the day and metal issues sold lower following weakness in base metals. Industrials and the decline in commodities.

The dollar, after touching $5.02% to the pound sterling, ended the day at $5.027-16.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

NO MATTER what form of animal life you study you'll find out there's always a menace of some kind to make it tough for 'em. While a little squirrel is working hard to store up nuts for the winter, he has'ta keep on the alert all the time for hawks and eagles or some larger animal that is liable to prey upon him. All the while the merchant is working hard trying to make some money, there are promoters figuring out schemes to take it away from him. I dropped in on an uncle of mine down home who runs a pet shop one day. He was sittin' in the back of his shop with his face in his hands. He says, "Sometimes I get so discouraged!" He says, "These racketeers in business keep holdin' me down." I says, "What are they doin' to you now?" and he says, "Well, here I worked all morning, dying a sparrow yellow so he would look like a canary and a crook comes along and gives me a counterfeit dollar bill for it!"

This is how the native district of Shanghai looked after weeks of fighting by Chinese and Japanese troops.

Again we went our different ways, until a few months ago when I recalled him and deliberately I recalled him and deliberately hunted him up to learn what kind of man he had become in middle age. Well, I found just what you expect, an unhappy, morose creature whose chief interest is his physical comfort, though he still reads the papers—three newspapers a day—to try to make up to himself for the loss of human companionship which he forfeited so long ago. By now he didn't even respond to my interest in him. All he wanted was to be let alone! What a life. WOMEN AND DAINTINESS had a rather unique way of keep-ing themselves fragrant. The English belle of that era carried about with her a small metal ball filled with sweet-smelling herbs or dried flower petals. And the purpose of this was to imbue the body with the fragrance that emanated from the ball, and thus cover up any unpleasant body odors.

By GLADYS GLAD

Of course, women today know that perfumes really do not cover up body odors to any appreciable degree, but what a good many of us do not seem to realize is that odorous perspiration often proves more of a problem in winter than in summer. The heavy woolen garments we wear keep the air from the skin, and do not permit free evaporation of the moisture exuded through the pores. As a consequence, the perspiratory glands fail to function properly.

Another reason why persipra-tion odors should be guarded against very carefully in winter, is because heavy woolen garments tend to retain such odors more tenaciously than frocks of lighter fabrics. Dress shields should be worn in heavy frocks, and should ally with a good deodorant powder.

A good many women also don't

Some of the girls smoke, but do not take drinks, and neither do all the boys smoke. "J. E. R." is mistaken, too, about the "necking." My daughter knows several sets at school and has never heard of them drinking. She knows more mothers and fathers who drink and mothers and fathers who drink and smoke, however. So this is just a contradiction of the statement that most of the girls smoke and drink.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

Will you please tell me how to wash a green and white stocking cap so that the color will not run into the white? A lot of people have given me advice, but I don't know which one to take. I appreciate yours very much. WAITING ANXIOUSLY.

You will have to set the color, by dipping the cap first into some solution such as that made by diluting a tablespoonful of powdered alum in a bowl of water. Alum is supposed to set green very well.

of the year. While there is some-times more dampness in Boston, New York and Cleveland from sea and lake, making the air raw and and lake, making the air raw and cold, the average winter clothing you buy for winter here will be adequate. The best way to get the average temperatures is to watch the Government weather report every day in the daily newspapers.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

AM a faithful reader of your column and enjoy it so much.

I have a number of ladies' es, size 38, a pair of shoes, a man's overcoat (my husband's) and several pairs of work trousers which I would like to exchange for quilting. The ladies' dresses are cleaned and in perfect condition, but are too small for me. I would like to have just one quilt quilted, for which I have the blocks made. I thought perhaps someone read-ing your column might be interest-ed. I am giving you references. Respectfully, NORTH ST. LOUISAN.

As I have had so many requests from those needing help for cloth-ing, in exchange for quilting, I am using your request. Dear Mrs. Carr:

At these parties and outings she has seen no liquor served. The boys, she says, talk about drinking to show that they are big; but she has never seen any of them take a drink. Some of the girls smoke, but do not take drinks, and neither do all the boys smoke. "J. E. R." is mistaken, too, about the "necking." My daughter knows severa sets at school and has never heard of them drinking. She knows more mothers and fathers who drink and smoke, however. So this is just a contradiction of the statement that most of the girls smoke and drink MOTHER.

X-Ray, Radium Help Surgery Fight Cancer

Increase in Medical Efficiency Has Changed Viewpoint Toward Disease.

Logan Clendening, M. D.

S I WRITE this series of arti-Acles, I am preparing to go to Philadelphia to take part in a program of discussions of cancer pefore public audiences. Such educational campaigns are held in many parts of the country and, according to the leaders of the movement. result in bringing many early cases to the hospitals for treatment.

It wasn't so long ago that the word "cancer" was on the non-men-tionable list of many newspapers and magazines. If a person in the neighborhood had a cancer, the name was whispered as if it were a disgrace. And this was not mere prudishness 40 years ago. To have the diagnosis made was equivalent to being laid in a casket. Today results are as good as in any chronic disease.

And yet 40 years ago, our knowledge of the life history of the different kinds of cancer, and our knowledge of their appearance under the microscope was quite as good as it is today. Forty years ago we had painless and aseptio surgery and nothing important has been added to the technique of surgery. And 40 years ago we had the X-ray, and, indeed, exactly 40 years ago next year, in 1898, radium was discovered, so that the medical profession was in possession of all the three great agents used to combat

The improvement that has taken place in the results has been the result not of any single advance in echnique, but a gradual increase of efficiency, especially in organiza-

TODAY, radium and the X-ray are used as adjuncts to surgery. When surgery was employed to remove every vestige of a cancer, the work was very extensive and correspondingly dangerous. And even so, it was never complete. I remember once assisting a very fine surgeon in removing some malig-nant glands in the neck. After the nant glands in the neck. After the operation, a member of the family asked him if he had got them all out. He pointed out the hospital window to a field, and said, "I happen to know that that field has been plowed and sown with wheat. I have every confidence that a few weeks from today it will be covered with green plants. And yet if I went over there now I doubt if I could find a single seed."

That was his way of explaining the difficulty under which surgery labored in removing all malignant tissue in a given region. But ra-tissue in a given region. But ra-dium and the X-rays have a spe-cialized "eye" for seeing cancer cells and destroying them. It is like the nose of a hunting dog. You gaze over a field and cannot see single quail. But by and by that sensitive nose will lead you to a covey which eyes cannot make

The best results are obtained when teams, consisting of a pathologist, a surgeon and a specialist in X-ray and radium, go to work on a cancer there with all the resources at the command of scientific medi-

SYNOPSIS:
TERRY TREVOR, 22, granddaughter of Judge MARTIN TREVOR, has one suitor, HUGH JACKSON, assistant general manager of the Burton Silk Mills. Pondering whether or not to marry Hugh, Terry is speeding one night in her roadster when she hits and severely injures a penniless Silk Mills. Pondering whether or not to marry Hugh, Terry is speeding one night in her roadster when she hits and severely injures a penniless apung worker, IJM YORKE. He is taken to a hospital, and she is brought into court before her own grandfather. Judge Trevor at once reminds Terry of her grave obligation to Jim. Decreeing that she must pay all his doctor and hospital bills, he cuts off her allowance—and suggests that she immediately find a job. Terry fearfully calls the hospital to inquire about Jim. He cannot be seen for several days. Then DOCTOR WEBSTER, friend of the Trevor family, tells Terry of the possible enormity of the accruing bills. He warns against her working at the Burton Silk Mills, where indications of recent sabotage would surround her with danger. She nevertheless obtains, through Hugh, a position in the mill offices. JANICE BEECH, Terry's ch-worker, discusses freely the horrible mishaps occuring at the mills. MYRTLE PHILLIPS is Hugh's private secretary, who, it soon develops, harbors a secret harred for Terry. In a few days Terry visits Jim, finding him to be dark, handsome, gruffly bitter over his confinement. She mails a letter for him, addressed to a mysterious "MARION." The first week she pays his bills by selling her roadster. Then feeling sympathetic for the still disdainful patient, she offers Jim a room is her grandparent's home. When he accepts, she fondly prepares the room for his coming. Then suddenly Terry realizes she is in love with Jim, not the garden through an open window, she sees them kiss before parting. ADA JERGINS, watchful housekeeper in the Trevor home, observes Terry's actions and visits Hugh, apprising him of the girl's feelings toward "that good-for-nothing Yorke." NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

To relieve an annoying head cold you need Vicks Va-tro-nol, of course. But why not use Va-tro-nol in time—before your head gets all stuffed up and miserable?

Used at the first sneeze or sniffle, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent a lot of colds - or to throw off head colds in their early stages.

Va-tro-nol is SPECIALIZED medication for nose and upper throat, where most colds begin—and grow.

So, at the very first warning sign that a cold may be coming on—quick!
—put a few drops of Va-tro-nol up each nostril. You feel the tingle of its keen, stimulating action as

KEEP IT HANDY-USE IT EARLY

Va-tro-nol swiftly spreads through the nasal passages and helps Nature to fight off the cold. Clears Stuffed-Up Heads. Even when your head is all clogged up from a cold, Va-tro-nol brings comforting relief. It clears away stuffiness, reduces swollen membranes, and helps keep the nasal passages open. It lets you breathe again. And Va-tro-nol is so convenient so easy to use-at home or at work

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9 .-

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—
Earl Bergoff, secretary in his father's strikebreaking agency, testified today the elder Bergoff told him he had been hired by James H. Rand Jr., president of Remington Rand, Inc., to do "missionary work" in some of the company's plants.

Pearl Bergoff, the father, and Rand are on trial charged with violating the Federal Byrnes law by importing strikebreakers during a strike at the Remington Rand plant at Middletown.

Asked what he meant by "missionary work," the witness said: "Interviewing people—asking them to go back to work and submit their differences to arbitration instead of staying out in the street out of work."

carried out at plants in Syracuse and Utica, N. Y., and in Norwood, O. Later, it was brought out that Rand hired Bergoff to do smillar work in Middletown.

The indictment on which they are being tried charges 57 "mill-wrights" were transported from New York to Middletown with the intent of interfering with peaceful picketing of the Remington Rand plant by striking employes.

On the day the Government charges the men were taken to Middletown, Pearl Bergoff had an appointment with Rand, his son said.

Former Mayor Leo D. Santangelo of Middletown testified yesterday that Rand said he "feared trouble" at his Middletown typewriter factory on the day it is charged he and Bergoff imported the "millwrights."

Telling the jury of 10 men and two women about a conference he had with Rand on June 26, 1936, Santangelo said: "He told me he expected trouble at the factory, and wanted to know if they were going to get protection up there—, ample protection."

Asked by Carr if Rand gave any
